Sermon Flow Package

Display your sermon series with style.

Similar to iTunes CoverFlow, users flip through sermon series much like they would a jukebox. Through easy-to-use media management software, churches can upload streaming audio and video, podcasts and articles to a series. Clients may assign an image for each series, whether it be a picture of the speaker or a graphic design. This interface professionally presents all online media, both new and archived, with a branded banner and background. A recent Barna study shows that for every hour spent on religious activity, Americans spend 20 hours engaged in media. So, utilizing this interactive tool, ministries can reach the unchurched in an extraordinary way.
